The thing is, when I run this, the server throws an exception, a Protocol Exception of the wrong address. The code I have in the server is this: `ServerSocket serversocket = new ServerSocket(5000, 0, inetAddr, outetAddr); boolean err = false; while (!err) { Socket server =`

```
serversocket.accept(); serverInput =
server.getInputStream();
serverOutput =
server.getOutputStream();
System.out.println(client.toString());
serverInput.read();
if(serverInput.read() != -1) { server Output.write(client.toString().getByt es()); serverOutput.flush(); } else { err = true; } serverOutput.write(1);
} The client side is very simple, just a loop that continues until it gets -1:
