@Guest Hi! We have multiple versions of Windows with different price points. As an example: Windows 7,
Windows XP, Windows

---

Vista, Windows 8, and Windows 10. Every Windows has different cost, and some are complete programs to run in a computer, other versions can be on the motherboard without a computer. Even though we have different price points, most of our customers buy a minimum of Windows 7, and maybe Windows XP. It is from this simple version of Windows, that you will be able to create your programs to run on our Windows. @RjSquared99
TAS Professional Windows
